TUESDAY, MAY 1.

A SAMPLE OF MISREPRESENTATION.

The tariff discussion in congress has drawn out a good many queer statements from the democratic statesmen who are anxious to show the worst side to protection. To succeed in this matter they are not particular about the figures they give, whether they are a few millions out of the way or not. For instance, when Mr. Byrnum, of Indiana, made his speech in congress on the tariff bill, he said that "wool could not be produced in the United States for less than 40 cents per pound, and the people of the country consume 600,000,000 a year, which cost them $240,000,000. Of this 600,000,000 more than 300,000,000 had to be purchased abroad, because the high tariff had broken down all our woolen industry."

The bureau of agriculture at Washington, which is managed by a Missouri democrat in good standing, reports that the country produced last year 235,000,000 pounds of wool and not 300,000,000, and the total consumption of American wool reached only 256,700,000, or 43,000,000 less than Mr. Byrnum states.

The New York Tribune points out another blunder the Indiana congressman has made in his effort to boom free trade in wool. "The official returns show that the imports last year were 100,000,000 pounds, and that 6,938,782 pounds previously imported were taken out of warehouse, so that the entire consumption of foreign wool was less than 107,000,000. It may be added that the consumption of foreign wool never has been more than about 112,000,000 pounds in any year. But possibly Mr. Byrnum meant to include all wool imported in the form of goods, though in the reports of his speech he does not say so. In that case he meant that 193,000,000 pounds of foreign wool came in manufactured into goods or so-called 'waste.' But the entire value of woolen goods, rugs and waste imported last year was but $45,000,000, so that Mr. Byrnum would make the average cost of foreign wool made up into goods only 23 cents per pound. If Mr. Byrnum will look at an official report of the treasury department, entitled 'Home Consumption,' he will discover that the weight of all imported goods and waste was at the outside not more than about 48,000,000 pounds, and the cost about $1 per pound. If he supposes every imported pound of goods or waste to have represented two pounds of raw wool, even then he cannot make the quantity more than 100,000 pounds, instead of nearly 200,000,000 pounds."

SOME IMPORTANT FACTS.

A person who is accustomed to reading and thinking would hardly believe that in dollars and cents the consumption of malt and distilled liquors in this country stands in importance next to the consumption of breadstuffs. But this is true, however astonishing as it may seem. Here are some figures—not guesswork figures—that will make a man of sober habits think with a good deal of seriousness. In 1840 the consumption of malt liquors in this country was 23,310,843 gallons as reported by the United States census. In 1850 the consumption had grown to the enormous amount of $642,957,720 gallons. Put these figures in another shape. In 1840 the consumption per head of the population was 1.36 gallons; in 1850 it was 11.15 gallons. During the same period the use of distilled spirits decreased from 2.52 to 1.24 gallons per head. The present annual cost to the consumer of beer at 50 cents per gallon, is placed by the census statisticians at $804,852,033, while the annual expenditure by the consumers of all kinds of liquors is set down at $700,000,000. These totals are so large that they fail to produce a sufficiently distinct impression upon the mind of their real and startling magnitude.

Congressman Finerty, in the Citizen newspaper, of Chicago, writes the following editorial note:

When God in his infinite wisdom is pleased to call the good Pope Leo to his heavenly home, why should not the Catholic Church select as his successor an Irishman as his successor? There is nothing either improper or presumptuous in this question. If the pope must interfere in Irish matters, let Ireland have the benefit of an Irish pope. The knowledge of her unfortunate condition—at least once in fifteen hundred years. If an Irishman is good enough to be a saint he is good enough to be a pope. Either Archbishop Croke, Archbishop Walsh or Bishop Maloney would make a splendid pope, and would commit no mistake on the Irish question. But, then, in the event of the election of either, the English back-door ambassador would have to clear out the Vatican. Perhaps that is the reason no Irish pope can be elected.

Mr. Finerty is about right. No Irish pope can be elected. There never has been an Irish pope, and of the 260 from Peter to Leo xiii, 144 have been Italian. There have been none but Italian since 1023. During the previous centuries there were Dutch, French, Spanish, a few English, three or four Africans, but not a single Irishman. It is very true that an Irishman is good enough to be a saint but not good enough to be a pope. It is something like this in democratic politics. An Irishman's vote is good enough for the democratic party, but the Irishman himself is not good enough in the estimate of democratic leaders, to hold a great office of trust, honor, and responsibility. The Irishman are beginning to kick about this, and they have a right to kick and to kick hard.

Occasionally fairly decent democrats, like ex-Senator McDonald, of Indiana, protest vigorously against the disreputable methods of their party, but they generally take it out in protesting.

When election day comes they walk up to the polls and cast their ballots as usual, and their votes count no more than those of the millionaires and the election crooks whom they brush against at the polling place.—Exchange.

That is a good deal like Thurman, who denounced the democratic friends of Ohio, and his party for upholding them, and yet giving his party his whole support, and voting for every man on the ticket. Good preaching is good, but good practice is better.

The prison night school at Trenton, New Jersey, which was opened last summer by Keeper Patterson, has proved to be a gratifying success. The men have become greatly interested and the discipline of the prison has improved. All the 194 convicts who have been under instruction have made great progress, and a few of them have developed an extraordinary aptitude for learning. Other states are following the example of Wisconsin in inaugurating night schools in their penitentiaries. That in the state prison has been running for some time, and is doing some good work under the charge of Chaplain Kestelin.

Chattering news from Mexico, to the Wisconsin democracy: "Reports from Mexico indicate that Gen. Bregg has at last succeeded in filling a long felt want. The very pulse, that has knocked out two or three democratic ambassadors in succession, has no more effect than drug store soda water on the hard-headed man from Wisconsin."

SPRING FRESHETS CAUSE TROUBLE.

Melting snow in New England and heavy rains in Texas. New York, May 1.—The Associated Press is in receipt of reports of freshets from many points in New England. These are produced by the rapid melting of snow in the mountains, accumulated during the winter blizzard, and remaining until the past few days of warm weather. Snow still lies three feet deep in the woods in Vermont. No overwhelming damage nor any loss of life is reported as yet. The chief damage thus far is in the flooding of meadows and other agricultural lands, and in the steepness of hills. The snow has melted rapidly in the Adirondacks, and the Hudson river is rising and is above many of the docks at Troy, N. Y.

Galveston, Tex., May 1.—Reports from all parts of Texas of an extraordinary rain-fall throughout the State during the last three days doing much damage to railroads and farm property along the streams. The heaviest precipitation occurred in Kern and West Texas. All the small streams near Red River are overflowing their banks, submerging thousands of acres of grain and cotton. Throughout Southern and Southwest Texas the ruins are of incalculable value to the grazing interest, insuring a successful season to the cattle and sheep industries. The Rio Grande is rising rapidly, overflowing its banks for 200 miles above Brownsville.

MARIETTA'S NEXT CENTENNIAL.

Distinguished Orators and Guests Expected at the July Celebration. Washington, May 1.—The committee from Marietta, O., announced the centennial celebration of the establishment of civil government in the Northwestern States at that place to begin July 15, 1888, have extended formal invitations to President Cleveland and Cabinet, General Phil Sheridan and Admiral Porter, representing the army and navy, and the Justices of the Supreme Court; General Rosecrans and Hon. S. S. Cox, formerly of Ohio; Hon. John Sherman, Hon. Henry B. Payne, Governor C. H. Groves, ex-Senator J. M. Cameron, of West Virginia; Colonel W. P. Thompson, formerly of New York; Senators W. M. Evans, of New York, and J. W. Daniel, of Virginia, will each deliver orations. The Governors of the Northwestern States have been invited, together with the Governors of the thirteen original States, and are expected to be present.

"Q" ROAD INVESTIGATION.

It Will Be Tried Before the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Chicago, May 1.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission is to meet in Chicago on Saturday next and will investigate the present condition of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. The commission has been brought about by the friends of the striking engineers and firemen. In an interview yesterday Chief Surgeon, of the Pullman's Brotherhood, said that evidence was being prepared for the strikers for presentation to the commission. The investigation is to cover every branch of the system. The contention of the strikers is that the "Q" road is not managed by competent men, that it does not perform the office of a common carrier, and is not doing more than 30 per cent of its usual business. According to Mr. Surgeon the investigation has been requested by business men and citizens along the line of the system.

IOWA DEMOCRATS.

Delegates to the State Convention Gathered at Dubuque—Gossip. Dubuque, Ia., May 1.—Many delegates to the Democratic State convention to be held in this city Wednesday have already arrived and others are coming on every train. There will be a sharp contest over the election of delegates at large to the St. Louis convention. Eleven candidates have already manifested. It is believed that these will be chosen: James H. Shields, of Dubuque; J. W. Lehman, of Des Moines; J. C. Schell, of Sioux City; and J. Richardson, of Davenport. W. W. Wimer, of Des Moines, and J. J. Richardson, of Davenport, are candidates for Iowa's place on the National Committee.

Neither and Son Reconciled. Bismarck, May 1.—It is reported that a touching interview occurred Sunday night between the Crown Prince William and his mother, the Empress Victoria. The conference lasted nearly an hour, and both mother and son were for the greater part of the time in tears. This is the first instance of filial affection shown by the Prince to his mother, it is said, during the Emperor's illness.

The Cashier Came Back. Columbus, O., May 1.—P. W. Carrilous, cashier of the South End Bank, came from Cincinnati Sunday, but has no statement to make concerning his actions or why he overdraw his account $15,000. The bank is fully secured by mortgages and will recover its money. The directors announce that the doors will open and payments be resumed immediately.

Proposed Health Conference. Springfield, Ill., May 1.—The State Board of Health has issued many invitations for a conference of municipal authorities and board of health officials of cities, towns and villages to be held in the capitol building at Springfield on Thursday and Friday, May 17 and 18. Topics relating to the preservation of health in cities will be discussed and reports received and read.

A FULL BENCH.

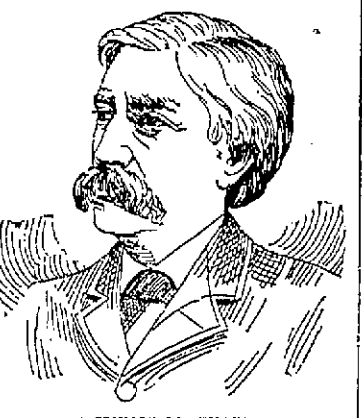

Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago, Appointed Chief Justice.

NO DOUBT OF HIS CONFIRMATION.

Evidence of General Satisfaction at the President's Action—Life of the New Head of the Highest Tribunal.

FULLER TO WEAR A ROBE.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—President Cleveland yesterday sent to the Senate the name of Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago, to the United States Supreme Court. There will be no trouble about Mr. Fuller's confirmation, although the Senate will not take unbecomingly into action upon the nomination. It will go first to the Committee on the Judiciary, which is composed of Messrs. Edmunds, Hoar, Ingalls, Wilson (Ia.), Evans, Pugh, Cole, Vest and George. To nearly all of these gentlemen Mr. Fuller is known, and no objection will be raised to him on the Republican side. The Democratic Senators do not always vote for the President's nominees, but it is not believed there is any reason for expecting opposition to Mr. Fuller. When the nomination of Mr. Fuller as Chief Justice of the United States reached the Senate, it was immediately made the subject of general whispered conversation, and as far as could be ascertained, the sentiment was entirely favorable to the selection from every standpoint.

MELVILLE W. FULLER.

Early in the Administration of Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Fuller was tendered the Solicitor-Generalship, and subsequently positions in the Civil Service Commission, Inter-State Commerce Commission and Pacific Railroad Commission, all of which he declined. He has been held in the highest regard by the President, and has been generally endorsed by Western Democrats.

An instant cry of approval ran over the Capital when the news became public, especially among those from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin, where Mr. Fuller was particularly well-known, and Congressional and other friends of the honored Chicagoan are jubilant over the notable recognition of their favorite by the President.

The Supreme Court was in session when the news came, and it was received with as much demonstration of pleasure as ever comes over that dignified body. Senator Edmunds, who has been Mr. Fuller's chief advocate, was pleading a case before Acting Chief Justice Miller and his associates. Even Justice Field, who it was thought early in the fall might possibly be promoted to the position, received the announcement pleasantly. Mr. Field later spoke highly and in complimentary terms of Mr. Fuller. Justice Lamar was also warm in the approval of the selection.

Chicago, May 1.—Mr. Fuller received the notice of his appointment with much greater coolness than his friends. About noon President Cleveland, by telegram, notified him of his nomination, and then sent to the Senate for the place of Chief Justice of the United States. Other dispatches speedily followed, and the newspaper bulletins soon announced the appointment. By 1 o'clock the news had run through the courts, and the lawyers began their pilgrimages toward Mr. Fuller's office on Dearborn street. He was the recipient of many personal congratulations, his fellow members of the bar seeming unanimous in their approval of the President's action. During the day many telegrams of a congratulatory nature were received by Mr. Fuller. Asked whether or not he would accept, he gave rather an evasive answer, preferring not to talk on the subject, but the impression was left that he would not decline the office.

New York, May 1.—The nomination of Mr. Fuller to be Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court is well received in this native State, although many had hoped that Eon. William L. Fuld, Chief of this State would be selected for the position.

New York, May 1.—Dispatches from the leading newspapers of the country give the gist of the editorials published this morning about the appointment of Melville W. Fuller to the Chief Justiceship. Stunned up, the majority of the editors agree that while the appointment is a surprise, it is far from being a mistake on the part of the President, and hopes are expressed that Mr. Fuller will accept.

Melville W. Fuller was born February 11, 1833, at Augusta, Me. He comes from the best New England stock, his ancestry dating back to the Mayflower's arrival. He graduated from Bowdoin in 1853. He then entered the law office of his uncle at Bangor, attending lectures in the law department of Harvard University. Mr. Fuller commenced the practice of his profession in his native city, also doing editorial duty on the Age, of which he was one of the editors. He was elected a member of the common council, became its president, and also acted as city solicitor at the same time. In 1860, wishing a larger field of action, he removed to Chicago and began at once a lucrative business in his profession. In 1861 he was a member of the Constitutional convention of this State and was a member of the Democratic National conventions of 1864, 1876 and 1880. His literary attainments are varied and of high order, and his public speeches are characterized by elegance of diction, eloquence and clearly-defined argument. He is a great admirer of Stephen A. Douglas, having delivered an address of welcome to him in 1860, also pronounced his eulogy in 1861, and paying an eloquent tribute to the great statesman at the Douglas Club banquet in Chicago of last Monday evening. His law career was marked in 1859 and 1860.

A NEW AMERICAN CARDINAL.

Archbishop Peckham, of Chicago, or Bishop Ireland, of Minnesota, May Secure the Distinction.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 1.—Since the return of Bishop Ryan from Rome a rumor has gained currency in church circles that another Cardinal's hat will come to America at no distant day. The name of the dignitary on whom this high ecclesiastical honor will be conferred has not leaked out, but a prominent priest who is in the closest confidence with Bishop Ryan in speaking of the matter gave it as his opinion that if the report is true, Archbishop Peckham, of Chicago, or Bishop Ireland, of Minnesota, who has just been created an Archbishop, will be selected. The Pope, it is said, was very favorably impressed with Bishop Ireland, who spent some months in Rome last year, and it would not therefore be surprising if St. Paul's eloquent temperance advocate were singled out for still higher honors than the Archbishopric.

ARCHBISHOP PECKHAM.

BERLIN, May 1.—A banquet was given Sunday evening in honor of Mr. Carl Schurz. Count Herbert Bismarck, several members of the Reichstag and other distinguished persons were present. Mr. Schurz, replying to a toast to his health, said:

"I stand here as a simple American citizen of German birth. We of German birth in America entertain for our extensive commonwealth love as a bride, however, does not diminish our affection for the old mother." He paid a glowing tribute to the Hohenzollerns and Prince Bismarck, and closed expressing a hope for continued good feeling between Germany and the United States. Other speeches were made by Mr. Chapman Coleman, the first secretary of the United States Legation, and Count Herbert Bismarck. Mr. Schurz will shortly be received by Prince Bismarck.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

Views of the London "Economist" on the Approaching Presidential Election. LONDON, May 1.—The Economist, commenting on the Presidential election in America, says: "Fast business, financial and railway schemes hang upon the result of the election. Even such business as Europe has hardly realized that the growth of America has advanced the President's position to one of the first importance in the world. American diplomacy is guided by the President's decision and affects all countries. The President is now resolving the issues of the question with England, the Samoan question with Germany, the Cuban question with Spain, and the regular rights question with Korea. He may expect great difficulties from America's present financial state in Paris and shake the French Republic by its treatment of Do Lesseps's Panama canal scheme."

PROMINENT PROHIBITIONIST DEAD.

Alexander Adams Stewart, of Columbus, O., Dies at His Brother's Home in New-York. NEW-YORK, May 1.—Alexander Adams Stewart, of Columbus, one of the most prominent prohibition leaders in the State, died Sunday night at the residence of his brother, Hon. Gideon T. Stewart, of this city, after a long illness. He was a native of Ohio, and had been a resident of New-York for several years. He was a member of the New-York State Bar, and had been a member of the New-York State Legislature. He was a man of great energy and ability, and had been a leading figure in the prohibition movement in Ohio and New-York.

DISASTROUS FOREST FIRES.

Saw-Mills and Suburbs in the Kane Oil Fields Wiped Out. PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 1.—A Fox Bradford, Pa., special says: Forest fires have been raging in the Kane oil fields since Sunday afternoon. They were started by a spark from a locomotive. Seventeen rigs and several tanks of oil were burned on Sunday. A large number of rigs and tanks were destroyed yesterday. Swamp Lodge, a suburb of Kane, was completely wiped out. Carpenter's large saw-mills at the lodge were also consumed. The fire burned incessantly until 8 o'clock last evening, when a heavy rain checked the progress of the flames, and it is now under control. The loss cannot be estimated, but will be very heavy. It is the worst fire in the history of the county.
